

Professional Apiary – Definitely the Next Level Up

It is an honour to represent this very professional apiary business located in sunny Northland. To risk an overused euphemism, this business does genuinely tick all the boxes.

Located in a stunning rural setting, a lot of thought has been put into building and developing this commercial property – allowing for a very functional operation complete with the latest plant and equipment.

Currently running 2,500 hives, there is lots of room in the 960m² (approx.) building and approximately 6.5ha property to scale this business up very quickly, and with additional hives added, you would be building it to become one of the North's premium apiaries in the coming years. Pollination also plays a big part of this business's income. Very reliable Beekeeping staff and the use of a great operational IT system makes running this apiary a definite pleasure.

With Comvita publishing their highest ever export volumes of honey last year, and the UK now opening their market up to NZ Manuka Honey, the apiary industry is again going to become the financial nectar for the astute purchaser who enjoys the outdoors lifestyle.
