Passive Role Returns Well Over $100K

This Hamilton home based business is able to be operated remotely with the current owner spending as little as a few hours per week in an overseer/admin position to maintain it at its present level.

All the established background work is in place for ease of operation, resulting in a comfortable level of return that the current owner is happy with as he is considering semi-retirement; BUT... there is very opportunity to lift the bar to increase the revenue - the choice is yours. Continue as is for the healthy return of $110,000 with seriously minimum input OR crank it up to your level of satisfaction. This current return could easily be increased by at least another $20K by reducing some unnecessary expenses within the business. Established name and contracts in place, positive word of mouth recommendations along with very low overheads as it is home-based, adds up to being a smart futuristic investment for an income such as this with very little input.

On the market now at just $325,000 - Competitively priced for a passive income.
