

LBP on The Tools? A Lifestyle Change is Coming Up

Having already made his own lifestyle change, our Vendor is ready to hand over the reins of his Auckland - focused home and commercial property inspection business to a 'suitably qualified' LBP Builder who is ready to leave the tools behind, but not the industry.

This business, well respected by the banks and other lenders, and has been operating very part time - and many requests for inspection work are currently being declined.

Even as a part time business, this business has been demonstrating that comfortable living is attainable - definitely even higher if you are working 5 days a week where we are advised that your invoicing could be as high as $5,500 a week.

If you are in the building industry, or have been previously, prefer to work from home, and are looking to be your own boss in clean clothes without your builders' apron on, this well-established business should be seriously considered. A sound knowledge of NZ Standards 4306 is required.

Feeling that he is holding the reins back on this business, our
