

Unique Wholesaling Business Run From Home

Here's a business you can really sink your teeth into...

Supplying top quality dental products at great pricing to clinics nationwide! This unique business model allows for very little input from the owner who is currently based overseas. We are told the business can be run from anywhere with as little as 10 minutes input per day, as the core of the business is run through an outsourced administrator who takes care of the day to day orders and general enquiries. By taking on the administration role, a new owner could increase profits and explore new opportunities. Sole distribution rights are in the form of a written agreement from the major supplier who offers top quality product at very good pricing. At the moment, the business only has 80 to 90 customers however a fantastic opportunity presents itself for a new owner to get stuck in and grow the customer base as there is a possible untapped market of over 1,900 potential clients. This business ticks over nicely on its own accord but with a concentrated business and marketing plan, the results could be mind blowing considering the size of the market it has yet to service. This new age business is showing returns of $120,000 managed. On the market at $450,000.
